MORTALITY IN THE ...62 Total ....

The increase is only nine over the preceding week, which is much less than was generally anticipated. Cholera has gone up from 241 to 302, being about the same rate of increase as on two or three previous weeks. During the corresponding week in 1849, there were 1.276 deaths, of which 678 were from cholera. The population was then but five-sevenths of the present amount. More than sixty per cent. of the above bill is of persons under age. About four-elevenths were of foreign birth. Of the places of burial, we find 450 were taken to the Roman Catholic Cemetery; 225 to the Potter's Field; 33 to Trinity Cemetery, and 425 were removed to Green-wood and other places out of the city except Calvary Our tables below will give a view of the progress of

On Saturday two cases of cholers were reported to the Board of Health; deaths two.

IN NEWARK.

The cholera, which since last Monday has abated, seems to be again on the increase. The fatal cases for a few days past have not been over one or two a day, but to-day we hear of several. They are all confined to localities above High-stt. and chiefly in the Sixth Ward. ON WARD'S ISLAND.

As was to be expected the cholera has been quite severe

As was to be expected the choicra has been quite severe on Ward's Island.

The island is under the charge of the Commissioners of Emigration, and no persons are allowed on the island but these who have bees in the country less than five years. The greater part of the residents are recently arrived emigrants, a class particularly subject to cholera.

There are now 2,072 persons on the island. Of these 1,200 are immates of the hospital.

The first case of cholera that occurred was that of Philip Strand, an attendant in the Cholera Hospital on Staten Island. On a visit to Ward's Island he was taken sick, and died on June 6. In the ward where he died were a number of children, six of whom were taken sick, and four of them eventually died.

The cholera spread through the island, and the first cases that occurred were very fatal. The disease, however, has now assumed a more manageable form.

The German entigrants are more liable to attack than the Irish, who have been comparatively exempt from this particular disease. It has been quite fatal among such of the pregnant women as have been attacked. Six of them out of eight who have been attacked by the disease have died.

From June 5 to August 4 there have been 239 cases of unnistakable Asiatic cholera. Of these, 105 have died. During the week ending July 29 there were 53 deaths in all, of which 19 were caused by cholera.

Cholera is treated in this place in the same manner as in the Vienna Hospital. Calomel and opium are used, the opium, however, in small quantities.

The peculiarity of the treatment consists in packing the patients, while in a collapse, in sheets saturated with ice-water. This, it is asserted, brings on the reaction much more effectually than the usual stimulauts applied to the surface of the body. Since this method has been tried the disease has not been so fatal as it was before.

Another circumstance deserves mention. The patients afflicted with venereal diseases, of which there are from eighty to one hundred in the hospital, have, up to this day, been entirely exempt from this plague. The same fact is noticeable on Blackwell's Island. This is something which physicians would do well to look into, as there may be some effect produced by the medicines employed in syphilitic diseases which acts as a preventive of cholera.

The reporter next visited Randall's Island, but so fur there have been no deaths from cholera in that place. In 1849 it was the last of the public institutions that was attacked, but when the epidemic appeared it was quite fatel.

CINCINSATI.-We find in the Cincinnati papers the report of deaths in that city during the month of July, by which it appear 97 persons died of cholera, as follows: occurred during the first week; 13 during the second; 30 during the third; and 27 during the fourth. The Board says: "There appears no indication at present of the disease sprending; on the contrary, we look for a rapid decrease in the number of deaths, both from cholers and other diseases, as the weather becomes cooler.

TOLEDO.-Seven deaths are reported for the 24 hours

YONKERS .- Several fatal cases of cholera have occurred | $5,000; insured for $1,800. in that section of Yonkers known as the Glea during the week. The disease, however, thus far, has been conflicted to Irish settlers of the most desipated habits, and whese hovels are so fillify that the physicians of the villege, very naturally, deem it unsafe for them to enter.

EXTENSIVE FIRE IN WILLIAMSBURGH-TWES-TY-FIVE BUILDINGS BURNED.

Yesterday morning about 4 o'clock a fire broke out in No. 225 Grand-st., being one of the row of six one-story buildings owned by Mr. A. H. Lowree, of Brooklyn. The building in which the fire is said to have originated was occupied by Mr. Hoyt as an uphoistery and furnishing stere. The alarm was immediately given, but before the Fire Department were on the ground the flames had ex-tended to the three two-story frame buildings nearly completed, situated on the corner of Grand and Seventh-ats. Engines Companies Nos. 3 and 10 were first at work, and were seen followed by the other Campanies, and every ex ertion was made to extinguish the fire. Owing to a scarcity of water, and a strong breeze from the north nearly every building on the block bounded by Grand, Seventh, Eighth and South First-sts, were leveled to the ground. The buildings were all built of wood with one guished with a few pails of water.

Hamilton-av. It was caused by a woman residing in the house, who placed a lighted candle too closely to the curtains of the window. The fire, however, was soon extinguished by the assistance of Officer Keeler.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribuse.

Six: I think it would be no more than just to notice the effective manner in which the fire at Ripley & Composition, in Pine-st., was subdued this afternoon. When I reached the ground the flames were pouring iercely out of the fourth-story windows, rendering it very uncomfortable to stand four doors off on the other side of the street. I did not think anybody could prevent the whole building from being consumed, and even considered some of the neighbors in danger. Yet in ten minutes from the time the firemen appeared on the spot, the flames were completely vanquished, and an immense saving of property effected.

pletely vanquished, and an immense saving or property effected.

The officer in command was John A. Cridier, Esq.,
Assistant Engineer, whose generalship commanded universal admiration.

It was reported, I knew not how truly, that the fire was the result of spontaneous combustion, generated by the excessive heat of the sun upon the roof, close to which the wool or other substances were packed.

Would it not be well for insurers to look into the mode of storing these inflammable commodities, especially "shoddy" and "mungo," which are becoming extensive subjects of trade and are often kept in conjunction with wool and cotton?

THE LATE MURDEROUS ASSAULT IN NAS-SAU-ST .- DEATH OF THE VICTIM.

On Monday last we noticed the fact of a man named Michael Greene having been stabbed on the previous night while passing through Nassau-st. The particulars of the affair appear to be as follows: Greene and a companion were going down Nassau-st. at about 1 o'clock o night in question, when they accidentally came in collision with a man who appeared to be a foreigner and who had on spectacles, who was on his way up the street. Greene apologized in the usual manner, but the stranger muttered something and stabbed him in the side, after which he ran up Theater-alley. Greene, for a moment, was not aware that be had been stabbed, and was too late in giving the alarm to effect the capture of the assassin, who escaped. He soon sank from the effects of the wound, and the Second Ward Police conveyed him to the New-York Hospital, where he died on Saturday night last. The Police have been unable to find any traces of th murderer, as no satisfactory description of him could be given either by Greene or his companion. Coroner Hilton yesterday held an inquest upon the body of the deceased, when the facts given above were elicited. The Jury rendered a verdict of "Death from a stab 'inflicted by a man to them unknown." Deceased was a native of Ireland, 37 years of age.

CITY ITEMS.

The weather for two or three days has been rather warm, but there has been a brisk breeze for a good portion of the time, which has modified the heat to a point not uncomfortable. Last night there was a cloudy sky, with a threat of rain.

Madame THILLON'S engagement at Niblo's concluded on Saturday night before a very large and fashionable audience. A complimentary benefit will be given to Madame T. on Tuesday night, when she will bid adieu to the stage. She will soon sail for Europe.

At Ninto's to-night the Ravels give something new in the way of representations of Statuary. The comic pantomime of "Kim-ka" will also be revived; and Yrka Mathias will appear in a divertisement. Mr. Burton is about to commence a short engagement here, playing the nights alternate to the Ravels.

At the BOWERT THEATER, the style of plays legitimate there—and nowhere else—are the the standard attraction. A new version of "Jack Sheppard" is on the boards. It ought to be an improvement, since it is hardly possible to point out any play which has done more damage to the mornis of the young than the blood and erime trash here-tofere played under that title. There are some better things done here, however, as will be seen in the bills.

At the National the public have had a little tragedy, a little melodrama and a little comedy, all of which have draws well. Mr. Scott is the star. A burlesque on Aladdin' will be brought forward to-night. At BARNUM'S MUSEUM the popular local drama known as "The Old Brewery" will be revived this week and played every night. Other entertainments in the afternoons. The Museum is cool and comfortable, and, besides the stage performances always has some new and rare curiosities, well worth seeing.

Lovers of art will not everlook the fact that the Dus-SELDORF GALLERY of Paintings is still open for visitors.

The collection is one of great merit, and is very popular.

NEGRO MINISTRELSY is still triumphant, and crowded houses gather every night at Wood's and Euckley's. Both houses offer new and attractive programmes this evening, and several novelties are soon to be brought The performances of these companies are of a high order of their kind, and are exempt from vulgarity or personess either of action or expression.

The CRYSTAL PALACE is open daily as usual, and atacts a goodly proportion of visitors, especially from the thousands of strangers now in the City.

The HIPPODROME is doing a great business in horseaces, foot-races, pageants, and kindred shows.

THE OPERA AT CASTLE GARDEN .- The opera of Masaniello was given for the third time, on Saturday night. It is to be regretted that so small an auditory should have attended a representation so excellent in many respects. In view of the claims of the opera to an adequate support, let it be borne in mind that the orchestra includes the best artists in the city, of a caliber such as perform in the chief theaters of Europe. The chorus is well disciplined, loud and full, and performs without a balk from first to last. conductor, Mr. Maretzek, is a man experienced in his business, and unremitting in his attentions. And now to come to the principal singers-the new ones. The tenor, Beraldi, we do not hesitate to pronounce the purest, freshest, youngest voice of the kind vet heard on the Italian boards of this country. He is in quality altogether superior to Roger, to whom was intrusted the chief part originally of Meyerbeer's Prophete, at the Grand Opera, Paris. We heard in Europe no such tenor voice as Beraldi, Mario course excepted. The Sleep air was literally delicious as rendered by him, and was encored tumultuously; so the grand heroic duet was repeated, the audience admitting of no denial from the singers. Besides the tenor, the new baritone, Graziani, is one of the best artists ever heard in this country. Why cannot such artists be better encouraged? Our people should know when something superior is given to them, even though it be in the shape of young ifted artists who have not yet made a European repu-

OPENING SECOND-AVENUE .- The entire cost of the regrlating and grading of the Second-av., from Twenty-eighth-st. to Harlem River, is said to be $329,000; making an assessment equaling $220 75 per lot, or $8 83 $7 foot, and $1 P foot for half the block on the cross streets each way from the avenue. The assessment in some places falls heavily upon the City at large, since no lot can be taxed more than half its assessed value. In the marsh near Harlem there are lots worth not more than $5 each, so that on these $2.50 is charged to the owner, and $218.25

A specimen of the marble with which it is proposed to build the new building in the Park, from the Vermont quarry, was placed on exhibition on Saturday, in front of the City Hall. This specimen is a block about five feet long and twelve inches square. This marble is nearly black, with white veins running through it, crossing it in every direction. It has an appearance similar to the colored marble generally used for marble mantels, tabletops and parlor ornaments. It is said to be very sound and can be furnished as chosp as the ordinary white

In order to obtain the payment of this money the accused was compelled to sign the name of Mr. Longenbolm to a draft which was handed him by the paying teller in the Bank. This he did, and then went off with the money. This man is also accused of having by fraudulent pretenses obtained $10 50 from Louis Hans, butcher, of No. 6 Essex Market. He is also said to be the person who committed a fraud at Albany, by means of the telegraph a few days since, when he obtained $250. On searching his trunk at the St. Nicholas Hotel, the officer found a deposit book on the Bowery Savings Bank with the name of Master Longenbolm written in it, and another on the same institution having in it the name of Julius Longeobolm. The prisoner was committed by Justice Wood to await examination. It is expected that other charges of a similar character will be preferred against him.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF INTEMPERANCE.-Coroner Wilhelm yesterday held an inquest upon the body of Nicholas Schmidt, a native of Germany, 40 years of age, who died suddenly at his residence, No. 155 West Twenty-ninthst., of congestion of the brain caused by intemperance. A verdict to that effect was rendered by the Jury.

ROBBED IN A MOCK AUCTION SHOP .- On Saturday afternoon, a disturbance occurred in the mock anction shop corner of Broadway and Cedar-st., between some of the Peter Funks and a man whom they had been trying to swindle. Policeman Wooley called at the place and arrested one of the gang for assaulting the stranger, and while doing so had his gold watch, worth $60, stolen from his pocket. He has been unable, thus far, to recover it. Samuel Ramsay, the accused Peter Funk, was taken to the Tombs, and locked up.

Gen. Cass and a large number of M. C.'s who did not feel willing to stay until the formal adjournment of Congress, arrived in town on Saturday evening.

STREET PREACHING came off, as usual, yesterday, but the ottendance was smaller than on last Sunday, and there was evidently less enthusinsm among the hearers. The speakers were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred and Mr. Staley. The preaching lasted from 4 o'clock to 6. The discourses were more moral in their tone than we have heard for a long time, and that of the lady in particular was much more like the discourse heard in a church than what we are in the habit of hearing from the steps of public buildings. There was no attempt at disturbance, and at the cenclusion of preaching the meeting separated quietly.

Accident on a Strangost -While the scholars and teachers of the Sunday School attached to the Methodist Episcopal Church in York-st. were returning from their annual excursion on Friday last to Mount Hormon, an ac-cident occurred which, if it had been fatal, would have thrown a gloom over all the pleasure the party had previously enjoyed. It appears that shortly after the steamboat (America) had left the landing, a boy named Charles Fowler, residing at the corner of Park-av, and Adelphist , accidentally fell overboard. A young man named Louis Martin, a fireman on the boat, immediately plunged into the water and succeeded in saving the boy. Some centlemen of the party believing that so generous and heroic an act ought not to be rewarded by a mere expression of thanks, proposed that a contribution should be raised for the purpose of giving Mr. Martin a substantial assurance of their esteem. The latter, however, declined any gift in the shape of money, but stated he was willing to receive from the company any mark of their approba tion that they might think proper to make. We trust that all the gentlemen who feel a deep interest in this affair will not allow Mr. Martin's noble conduct to remain long un Suddish Death.—Officer Osborne brought to the First District Station House, on Friday evening about 70 clock, a woman who was well dressed, and about 30 years of age. She had a very young child with her. She was placed in the lodgers' room. Soon after her admission she appeared to be very ill, and died about 9 o'clock. The following are the particulars of the case, proved on the inquest. The above named efficer found this woman sitting on the steps of a house on Fulton-av. near Lawrence st. There was a crowd about who were giving her something. He thought that she was somewhat intoxicated, and took her up for the purpose of bringing her to the Station House. She was not able to walk, and had to be conveyed in a cert. After remaining some time in the lodgers room, she appeared to have taken a fit. Doctor Palmedo was in mediately sent for. He bled her, and applied the usual remediac for her disease, which appears to have been congestion of the brain; but his skill was ineffectual, for she died about 9 o'clock. The verdict of the Jury was in ascordance with the above facts.

RETAKE OF LATE JAMES RIDOWAY.

Mr. Ridgway died, as already stated, without leaving any mill, so that his extate would fall to his heirs at law. He had been married three times, the first wife died; the would obtained from him a divorce, on the ground of infacility, after they had lived reperate for several years, and the having resumed her maiden name of Catherino Bobb. In 1841 he married the present Mrs. Ridgway, she being then is years of ago, by whom he had eight chidren, all now living. Mr. Ridgway died in 1847. The fact of Mr. Ridgway leaving no will appears to have made a good deal of difficulty independent of this, as, had he left a will disposing of his estate, and necessarily appointed in it executors, the latter would have been empowered to take posacesion and charge of the estate; whereas, in order to take out letters of administration, heavy security is required, in accordance with the value of the catate; by the Surrogate, and the personal estate in the present case, which is large, went into the hands of the problic administrator, and is held by him for the benefit of whom it may concern.
